

Jessica Hutchison

Research Analyst

I am a Research Analyst at the Crime Prevention Council as well as a Master's student in the Community Psychology program at Wilfrid Laurier University. As a Research Analyst I scan literature related to all areas of crime prevention and compile relevant information for use in fact sheets, reports and funding proposals. I am also involved in the planning and implementation of numerous projects such as the Waterloo Region Violence Prevention Plan.

My prior work experience includes: a Residential Counsellor at an agency for adults with serious mental illness, a volunteer coordinator at Habitat for Humanity as well as numerous positions as a Research Assistant at several universities.

My interests outside of work include playing and watching football, doing bikram yoga and reading. I have always been interested in criminal justice issues and plan on working in crime prevention for the rest of my professional career.
